DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 44-55, drawn to a method for making a glued-together screen assembly.

II. Claims 56-57, drawn to a method for making a screen assembly.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are distinct method combinations. Each invention relies on different elements for patentability not required by the other.

Invention I requires a heating apparatus having a control system, a plurality of heating elements spaced-apart on the heating apparatus, and a plurality of heat sensors spaced-apart and moveable to a position adjacent the at least one layer of screening material, with the plurality of heat sensors in communication with the control system, wherein the method comprises sensing with the plurality of heat sensors temperatures of different portions of the at least one layer of screening material during heating thereof and controlling the plurality of spaced-apart heating elements with the control system in response to temperatures sensed by the plurality of heat sensors to control heat applied to different portions of the at least one layer of screening material during heating thereof – whereas Invention II does not require such limitations.

Invention II requires a cooling apparatus having a base on which the screen assembly is placed and a top platen moveable with respect to the base and a supply apparatus for supplying cooling fluid to the base and to the top platen for cooling the screen assembly, wherein the method comprises emplacing the first screen assembly on the base, moving the top platen down onto the screen assembly and supplying cooling fluid to the base and to the top platen with the supply apparatus to cool the screen assembly – whereas Invention I does not require such limitations.

3. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

5. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
